

What will be the Impact of Climate Change on Cordillera Agriculture?

Situación futura en embalse Tabón

(from Alejandro Leon)

Availability of irrigation water is a principal mechanism by which climate will influence agriculture. Studies in Chile have indicated that the expected drying of the climate will lead to considerable restrictions in the availability of water.