

Economic water scarcity means having to walk 6 km a day to get water.

Everyday.

1.6 billion people live in economically water scarce basins, where access to water is restricted by lack of human capacity, inadequate investment, poorly conceived irrigation infrastructure, or inefficient management.

It's time to rethink irrigation.

See the new report
Revitalizing Asia's Irrigation

www.iwmi.org